Dear Manager,

I would like to request your approval to attend the UXINDIA 2026 Rising Leaders Forum, taking place in Bengaluru from 26–27 September 2026.

The forum is designed for emerging design professionals and future leaders, focusing on leadership development, communication, collaboration, AI-enabled design practices, product thinking, and career growth.

Why this is valuable for our team

Accelerate professional growth

The forum provides practical leadership skills that will help me take on greater responsibilities and contribute more effectively to the team.

Improve collaboration and stakeholder management

Sessions cover communication, influence, and working across cross-functional teams, helping improve project execution.

Stay current with industry trends

The program offers insights into AI, design innovation, UX strategy, and emerging practices that can strengthen our team's capabilities.

Share learnings with colleagues

I will prepare a summary of key takeaways and conduct an internal knowledge-sharing session so the entire team benefits from the experience.

Invest in future leadership

Supporting employee development helps build stronger internal capabilities and prepares future leaders within the organization.

Expected Return on Investment

The knowledge and skills gained will contribute to improved performance, better collaboration, and stronger design outcomes. The learnings will be shared across the team, extending the value of this investment beyond a single attendee.

I believe this opportunity will help me grow professionally while bringing meaningful value back to our organization.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
